Dear Mr. Ramming:

This is in response to your inquiry of December 26, 1979.

Please be advised that the Denver Mint has shipped 1979 half dollars to the Federal Reserve Bank in Oklahoma City, which in turn supplied local banks. It is suggested that you may wish to contact the Federal Reserve Bank in Oklahoma City as to the distribution to local banks in your area.

The 1979 half dollars was minted in Denver and Philadelphia. The 1979 Proof coins, which included the half dollar, were struck at the San Francisco Assay office.

The Denver Mint produced 12½ million half dollars during 1979. At this time, the quantity for production has not been projected by the Federal Reserve System for 1980.

It is suggested that you may wish to contact a local coin dealer in your area, who may be located through the yellow pages of the telephone directory.

Dear Ms. Mahoney:

This is response to your letter of January 1, 1980.

Our primary function of the Bureau of the Mint is to manufacture sufficient coinage to serve the needs of the Nation. We ship all of our coins to the Federal Reserve Banks, who in turn, distribute them to the local banks.

Other services include: (1) Conducting tours at the Denver Mint which are extremely educational in that the general public learns how coins are actually minted; (2) Responding to both telephone and letter inquiries pertaining to questions regarding coinage processes, coinage history, government employment, both career and political; and, (3) Selling coins and medals to those interested collectors.

The Denver Mint Sales Room sells the Denver Mint Souvenir sets which consist of the half-dollar, quarter, dollar, dime, nickel, cent, and the commemorative medals of the Denver Mint. These sets are sold over-the-counter only at Mint outlets in Denver, Philadelphia, San Francisco, and Washington, D.C.

We are also enclosing a brochure with order form on "Medals of the United States Mints". An order form for the John Wayne Medal is also enclosed.

If you wish to be placed on the Bureau of the Mint's mailing list for coin sets and special Mint offerings, please complete the enclosed form. You will automatically receive order cards for all future coin sets, coins, and medals offered by the Mint if your name is included on the San Francisco Mailing list.

We are enclosing "The Early Days," which gives some background information of the Denver Mint and "How to Make a Penny," which depicts the coinage process. Also included ^{is} an excerpt from "Facts About United States Money, and fact sheets on the Susan B. Anthony dollar, which you may find helpful.

A Proof Coin Set can be copper-nickel or 90% or 40% silver depending on the year of issue as all proof coins are double struck, giving the coins a sharper relief than regular issue coins, and have a flawless, mirror-like finish.

The Mint Set or the 40% brilliant uncirculated are uncirculated coins made with the same coining technique as are used for circulating coinage productions. They are of unusually high quality, or the best coin coming off a new die.

regarding the coin.

Mr. James L. Price
2200 Rutherford
Louisville, KY 40205

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Price:

This will acknowledge your inquiry received December 28, 1979.

Please be advised that the Denver Mint began its operations in 1906. Our primary function of the Bureau of the Mint is to manufacture sufficient coinage to serve the needs of the Nation. We ship all of our coins to the Federal Reserve Banks, who in turn, distribute them to the local banks.

Other services include: (1) Conducting tours at the Denver Mint which are extremely educational in that the general public learns how coins are actually minted; (2) Responding to both telephone and letter inquiries pertaining to questions regarding coinage processes, coinage history, government employment, both career and political; and (3) Selling coins and medals to those interested collectors.

The Denver Mint Sales Room sells the Denver Mint souvenir sets which consist of the half-dollar, quarter dollar, dime, nickel, cent, and the commemorative medals of the Denver Mint. These sets are sold over-the-counter only at Mint outlets in Denver, Philadelphia, San Francisco, and Washington, D.C.

We are also enclosing a brochure with an order form on "Medals of the United States Mints". An order form for the John Wayne Medal is also included.

If you wish to be placed on the Bureau of the Mint's mailing list for coin sets and special Mint offerings, please complete the enclosed form. You will automatically receive order cards for all future coin sets, coins, and medals offered by the Mint if your name is included on the San Francisco mailing list. We are enclosing information sheets on coins and coin sets.

Enclosed are "The Early Days," which gives some historical background of the Denver Mint and "How to Make A Penny," which depicts the coinage process. The excerpt from "Facts About United States Money" also relates to coinage operations.

The enclosed brochures on the Susan B. Anthony contains facts regarding the coin.

If you ever visit the Denver Area, we would be happy to have you visit the Mint. Enclosed is an information sheet regarding our tours.

Dr. Ron Baer
P.O. Box 165
Stoneville MS 38776

Dear Dr. Baer:

This is in response to your inquiry received January 10, 1980.

Please be advised that the Bureau of the Mint in San Francisco expects to accept 1980 Proof Set orders in April of this year. The cost of these sets will be announced later.

If you wish to have your name placed on the Bureau of the Mint's mailing list for 1980 Proof Sets, please complete the enclosed form. Once you have ordered a coin set from San Francisco, please be assured that you will automatically receive order cards for all future Mint offerings.

Please be advised that the Bureau of the Mint does not sell individual coins or rolls of coin to the public. The Mint ships all of its coin production to the Federal Reserve Banks and Branches. They, in turn, make distribution to commercial banks. It is suggested that you may wish to contact your local bank or coin dealer, both of which may be located in the yellow pages of your telephone directory.

We are enclosing a brochure with an order form on "Medals of the United States Mint" and an order form on the John Wayne Medal.

Enclosed are information sheets on coins and coin sets, which you may find helpful.

The Mint will be offering the gold medallions by late spring or early summer of this year. It is anticipated a limit will be imposed on the number of gold medals an individual may order, possibly as low as five or less of each size. The selling price will be based on the daily prevailing gold price plus the prorated manufacturing and distribution costs of the Government.

As to Carson City Silver Dollars, the General Service Administration plans to conduct two sales of these dollars. For further information, it is suggested that you write to Carson City Silver Dollars, San Francisco, CA 94170.

Sincerely,

Evelyn T. Davidson

Dear Ms. Moore:

This is in response to your letter received December 21, 1979.

Please be advised that we do not maintain a price list of coins.

The Bureau of the Mint does not sell individual coins or rolls of coin to the public. The Mint ships all of its coin production to the Federal Reserve Banks and Branches. They, in turn, make distribution to commercial banks. It is suggested that you may wish to contact a local coin dealer, who may be located through the yellow pages of the telephone directory.

The Bureau of the Mint suspended, for a indefinite period, sale of the Bicentennial sets, the only coins we have sold which contain silver.

The Bureau of the Mint in San Francisco expects to accept 1980 Proof set orders in April of this year and 1980 Uncirculated coin set orders in September of this year. The cost of these sets will be announced later.

If you wish to have your name placed on the Bureau of the Mint's mailing list in San Francisco for 1980 Proof and Uncirculated coin sets, please complete the enclosed form. This will acknowledge your letter of January 14, 1980.

Please be advised that the Denver Mint began its operations in 1906. Our primary function of the Bureau of the Mint is to manufacture sufficient coinage to serve the needs of the Nation. We ship all of our coins to the Federal Reserve Banks, who in turn, distribute them to local banks.

Other services include: (1) Conducting tours at the Denver Mint which are extremely educational in that the general public learns how coins are actually minted; (2) Responding to both telephone and letter inquiries pertaining to questions regarding coinage processes, coinage history, government employment, both career and political; and (3) Selling coins and medals to those interested collectors.

The Denver Mint Sales Room sells the Denver Mint souvenir sets, which consist of the half-dollar, quarter dollar, dime, nickel, cent, and the commemorative medals of the Denver Mint. These sets are sold over-the-counter only at Mint outlets in Denver, Philadelphia, San Francisco, and Washington, D.C.

We are enclosing a brochure with order form on "Medals of the United States" Mints". An order form for the John Wayne Medal is also included.

If you wish to be placed on the Bureau of the Mint's mailing list for coin sets and special Mint offerings, please complete the enclosed form. You will automatically receive order cards for all future Mcoin sets, coins, and medals offered by the Mint if your name is included on the San Francisco mailing list. We are enclosing information sheets on coins and coin sets.

We are enclosing "How To Make A Penny," which depicts the coinage process. The excerpt from "Facts About United States Money," also related to coinage operations.

The Enclosure, "The Early Days," gives some background of the Denver Mint and other facts which you desired.

The enclosed brochures on the Susan B. Anthony dollar contains facts regarding the coin.

If you ever visit the Denver area, we would be happy to have you visit the Mint. Enclosed is an information sheet regarding our tours.

Sincerely,

Duane Sjaardema

Dear Mr. Herman:

This is in response to your inquiry of January 8, 1980.

Please be advised that the Bureau of the Mint does not sell individual coins nor rolls of coin to the public. The Mint ships all of its coin production to the Federal Reserve Banks and Branches. They, in turn, make distribution to commercial banks. It is suggested that you may wish to contact your local bank or coin dealer, which may be located through the yellow pages of your telephone directory.

Proof and uncirculated coins manufactured in prior years are not available at the Mint. Back issues are usually obtainable from dealers or collectors, at prices determined by them. The Mint does not recommend dealers or collectors to whom inquiry could be made for this information. It is suggested that you consult the yellow pages of your telephone directory for the names of dealers or coin clubs in your area.

As to coin collecting, you may be interested in purchasing 1980 Proof and Uncirculated Coin Sets. Please be advised that the Denver Mint began its operations in 1906. Our primary function of the Bureau of the Mint is to manufacture sufficient coinage to serve the needs of the Nation. We ship all of our coins to the Federal Reserve Banks, who in turn, distribute them to the local banks.

Other services include: (1) Conducting tours at the Denver Mint which are extremely educational in that the general public learns how coins are actually minted; (2) Responding to both telephone and letter inquiries pertaining to questions regarding coinage processes, coinage history, government employment, both career and political; and, (3) Selling coins and medals to those interested collectors.

The Denver Mint produces an average of 24,000,000 coins daily.

Ten percent of the women make up the Denver Mint's work force.

The Denver Mint Sales Room sells the Denver Mint souvenir sets which consist of the half-dollar, quarter dollar, dime, nickel, cent, and the commemorative medals of the Denver Mint. These sets are sold over-the-counter only at Mint outlets in Denver, Philadelphia, San Francisco, and Washington, D.C.

If you wish to have your name placed on the Bureau of the Mint's mailing list for 1980 Proof and Uncirculated Coin Sets, please complete the enclosed form. Once you have ordered a coin set from San Francisco, please be assured that you will automatically receive order cards for all future Mint offerings.

Proof and Uncirculated coins manufactured in prior years are not available at the Mint. Back issues are usually obtainable from dealers or collectors, at prices determined by them. The Mint does not recommend dealers or collectors to who inquiry could be made for this information. It is suggested that you consult the yellow pages of your telephone directory for the names of dealers or coin clubs in your area.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Branch:

This is in response to your letter received January 24, 1980.

None of the Mints have ever produced a coin such as you describe. It is not the type of error that would likely be made in the coining process.

Novelty concerns sometimes superimpose the likeness of the late President Kennedy facing Lincoln and imprint other images in a coin.

This is probably what happened in the case of the coin you describe.

Sincerely,

Evelyn T. Davidson

Dear Mr. Chambley:

This is in response to your inquiry of January 18, 1980.

Please be advised that the Bureau of the Mint does not sell individual coins or rolls of coin to the public. The Mint ships all of its coin production to the Federal Reserve Banks and Branches. They, in turn, make distribution to commercial banks. It is suggested that you may wish to contact a local coin dealer, who may be located through the yellow pages of the telephone directory. We are enclosing information sheets on coins, which you may find helpful.

Sincerely,

Box 84
Hadley, PA 16130

Dear Mr. Shiner:

This is in response to your inquiry receive January 17, 1980.

We have no record of having received your letter of three months ago.

As to the coins described in your letter, it is difficult to make any kind of determination without examining your coins. Should you wish further examination of your coins, you may send them to Bureau of the Mint, Technical Staff, Washington, D.C. 20220. However, if any coin submitted to that office is found to be counterfeit, or otherwise in contravention of the law, it will not be returned. Such pieces are delivered to the Director of the U.S. Secret Service, Washington, D.C. 20220 for appropriate action.

If you prefer to use the services of the American Numismatic Association, P.O. Box 2366, Colorado Springs, CO 80901, please refer to the enclosed information.

Sincerely,
